

d´Blechan

der verliabte Bua

d´Blechan, are six down-to-earth brass players originally from different rural areas in the north of Austria. We all moved to the urban heart of Upper Austria in order to further our education in music without losing the musical roots of our home regions.

Since 2001 we have been trying to familiarise people of all ages with various styles of music in an amusing and entertaining way. The repertoire includes traditional folk, jazz and popular music, our own arrangements and compositions and spontaneous, impromptu musical performances.

Always adorned in traditional Lederhosen outfits we play a large number of tunes by heart in a relaxed and joyous manner and pepper these pieces with comical elements. Put simply, folk music in another way.
